JAZZ NIGHT IN AMERICA WITH CHRISTIAN MCBRIDE

MONDAY AT 9 PM

2/3 Crosscurrents: East Meets West

Virtuosity—of a dazzling, ebullient, yet altogether generous sort—might be the most obvious bridge between David Holland and Zakir Hussain. But there's also a deep cultural foundation behind their musical dialogue, which forms the beating heart of a project called Crosscurrents.

2/10 'The Black Messiah' And The Legacy Of Cannonball Adderley

This episode of Jazz Night in America takes a fond look at the legacy of Cannonball Adderley, illuminating it from multiple angles. Guided by our host, self-avowed Cannonball fanatic Christian McBride, we'll hear from some of Adderley's former bandmates, and spend quality time with Patrick Bartley Jr., a young alto saxophonist who has taken Cannonball Adderley's music and message to heart.

2/17 Wilco Guitarist Nels Cline Reclaims Mood Music In The City Of Brotherly Love

The first and only performance of Lovers (for Philadelphia) took place at Union Transfer on June 2, and Jazz Night in America was there. We're there for an up-close-and-personal view of the concert, and get more insights on just how Cline and Leonhart made new tapestries of sound out of classic tunes like Benny Golson's Whisper Not, McCoy Tyner's Aisha, and The Delfonics' "La-La (Means I Love You).

2/24 Electric Miles: Behind the Brew

This episode of Jazz Night in America takes us behind the furious mystique of Bitches Brew, illuminating the musical and cultural forces Miles was metabolizing at the time. We'll hear from an array of authorities on the subject — notably his second wife, funk heroine and fashion icon Betty Davis, who inspired his outrageous transformation in the Age of Aquarius. ("Whatever I would wear, he would wear," says Betty with a laugh, in this rare, can't-miss interview.)
